

ARS Consulting: Identifying appropriate recovery pathways.

Family education and recovery planning.

Families receive a screening interview and disease education.

The person of concern is matched with an appropriate recovery plan.

ARS professionals facilitate a workshop about enabling behaviors and implementing healthy boundaries.

The family is prepared for the future through recommended family support options.

Often, a natural next step is a loving, family intervention managed by Ascension professionals.

Ascension's consulting service relies on an evidence-based SBIRT model - (Screening, Brief Intervention, Referral to Treatment) - to rapidly support families dealing with addiction.
